PREFACE.

These rolls have been compiled in the Officers' Casualties Branch of the War Office from reports coming to the notice of the Military Secretary.

They are published to enable information, which has from time to time been circulated during the war, to be available in one volume.

In Part I the names are tabulated alphabetically, while in Part II they are arranged by Ranks. Any other method has been found impracticable.

It has not been possible to give the number of the Battalion in every case, as officers changed battalions so rapidly that the Army List was not always a guide, and in the notifications of casualties battalions were not always given.

Attention is invited to the matters at the end of the book; these additions and amendments have arisen during the time the book has been in the press.

The rolls of missing, and missing believed killed, contain the names of those whose cases were or are held in abeyance in deference to the wishes of their next of kin.

Nothing whatever contained in these rolls is to be quoted or made use of in any representation which it may be desired to make on the subject of rank, decoration, nature or date of casualty, or anything consequent upon any casualty.

OCTOBER, 1919.
